

MAYOR EXPLAINS DRIVE FOR JOBS

900 Heads of Families Unemployed School Census Shows

KIWANIS TO ASSIST

2,700 of Spavinaw Water Bonds Are Ready for Approval of State

A school census reveals that 900 heads of families in Tulsa are without employment. Mayor T. D. Evans told the Kiwanis club at Hotel Tulsa Monday night. The mayor urged Kiwanians to assist in the movement to create jobs for the unemployed. In accordance with the movement started by the general committee of the Associated Employment agencies, Evans thought the job will not last longer than one hour, it will be of some benefit, the mayor advised, adding that preference will be shown Tulsa laborers in distributing the jobs.

At the last meeting of representatives of five employment agencies, it was decided to place a special telephone in the mayor's office, over which calls may be received from persons who have work to offer. As soon as such information is received by this "clearing house," it is communicated to the five agencies and they fill the order from their waiting lists.

"There may be some who question whether it is proper for the city to take part in such a movement, but it seems to me it is such an important matter that it deserves the support of every agency," the mayor stated. "There are approximately 2,000 persons out of employment in Tulsa, and it should not be said of us that we failed to help them. It is possible that members of the Kiwanis club have already joined this movement to furnish jobs for the unemployed, but if they have not I hope they will immediately take it up."

All Are Deserving. "Virtually all of the 900 unemployed heads of families discovered by a school census are deserving. They are trying to keep their children in school, and it is imperative that they be given assistance," said Frank H. Reed, president of the Kiwanis club, assured Mayor Evans that the club is actively behind the movement to assist unemployed, and asked members to increase their interest in this project.

Mayor Evans informed the club that 2,700 of the Spavinaw water bonds have been signed by the mayor, city auditor, city treasurer, county attorney and county clerk and are ready for the attorney general's approval. There are yet 4,100 bonds to be signed by these five officials before taking them to Oklahoma City.

"The Spavinaw water project is not assured until the attorney general has approved the bonds and the 30-day period of incontestability has expired," the mayor advised. "It is possible that someone might, during those 30 days, try to tip the project by any injunction, which necessitates further delay in starting work and in bringing Spavinaw water to Tulsa."

"The legal processes through which these bonds must pass before they are approved are tedious, and it may appear to some that the delays so far have been unnecessary. But we have not lost a minute, and within the next forty days—45 days at the most—we expect the bonds to be ready for sale. This hope is based on the contingency that no injunctions will be filed against the bond issue. If such should be filed, it is impossible to make an accurate prediction as to when work would be started."

The 4,100 bonds mentioned by the mayor have been delivered by the Western Bank Supply company to the city, and part of them have already been signed by city officials.

Farm Credits Granted. WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Government farm credits amounting to $6,730,000 for agricultural and livestock purposes, largely for western and southwestern states were approved by the war finance corporation today. The corporations' total loans for the week ending January 21, it was announced, amount to $12,000,000. The largest group of loans among those approved today were Texas interests which alone aggregate $1,231,000.

Boy Scout Candidate Should Be Elected If Platform Counts

Here's a candidate for office who should prove popular. He is H. C. Adams, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Adams. Adams is secretary of the Tulsa Traffic association. "H. C." is candidate for water commissioner on the Eagle ticket, which is one of two tickets to be voted by the Boy Scouts.

"If I am elected to the office of water commissioner," the youngster declares, "I promise to use my best efforts to have Spavinaw water mains within 60 days after water mains within 60 days after I take my seat in office. I also promise that there will be no more muddy water flowing through the Tulsa water mains. I further promise that swimming pools will be located all over Tulsa, convenient for each scout troop on each Tulsa street may take his morning plunge in Spavinaw water before breakfast."

Running on such a "platform," this candidate should put up a stiff fight for the office he seeks.

SUES OLD PARTNERS

Former Grand Opera House Is Basis of Suit in District Court Involving a Contract

The Tulsa Opera House company, C. L. Hester and Jessica Reeder, were named as plaintiffs in a suit filed Monday in district court against J. E. Crobbie, the John O. Mitchell company estate and trustees for $40,000 for alleged failure of John O. Mitchell and Crobbie to fulfill a contract which it is claimed they entered into in 1913 with the Reeder and the opera house company. Defendants in the suit are Young O. Mitchell, Garland C. Mitchell, Edwin Harrison and Frank Mitchell, Edwin Harrison and Frank Mitchell, Edwin Harrison and Frank Mitchell, Edwin Harrison and Frank Mitchell.

It is claimed in the petition that in January, 1913, the Reeder owned 75 per cent of the opera company stock but that the company was in financial straits, owing about $30,000. In order to bolster up the credit of the company the Reeder, it is claimed, gave 25 per cent of their stock to the company and a few days later the company voted a contract to Crobbie and Mitchell whereby the two were to take over management of the company. When the debt of the company had been paid from the profits and rents, it was agreed that Crobbie and Mitchell were to become the owners of the stock which the Reeder had given the company.

But in 1920 the opera house bought without Crobbie and Mitchell having discharged their part of the contract. It is claimed that, notwithstanding this fact Crobbie and Mitchell claim that they were virtually left holding the sack and claim that they have been damaged to the extent of the $40,000 which they ask. John B. Turner and Woodson E. Norvell are attorneys for the plaintiffs.

STREET WORK WAS IMPORTANT ITEM

Accomplishments of Department Recited at Banquet

Accomplishments of the city street department for the year ending December 31 were made public at a banquet of this department held at Ed Woods' cafe Monday evening. O. A. Reider is commissioner of streets and public property. The different reports were made by heads of divisions into which the department is divided. Attending the banquet were virtually all members of the street department, together with numerous city officials and their wives. E. L. Kestley, superintendent of the street cleaning division, reported that 93,726 blocks in the business and residence sections were cleaned and flushed during the year, which 27,730 were in the business district and 12,690 in the residence district.

The street grading and maintenance department, of which J. W. Whitney is superintendent, the average number of men employed was 12; the number of teams used, six; culverts built and drainage ditches cleaned 1,940; number of blocks graded, 1,560; and number of blocks repaved, 1,560.

States the report: "Graded sidewalks on West Tulsa and placed curbs and crushed stone on same, making a passable roadway out of what was formerly a mud hole in wet weather. We were assisted in this work by various good citizens and corporations, headed by the Automobile club. The total expense of this department was $2,250.50. One of the most efficient divisions was that of street paving. The paving crew was organized May 14, 1921, and the report made Monday evening covers the period from that date to January 14, 1922—eight months.

In that time 11,515 holes were repaved in pavement; 5,342 and one-fourth square yards of asphalt top was used, and 2,492 square of concrete. The cost of making these repairs was $30,289.96. Of this amount $17,500 was spent on Asphalt, bituminous, and $14,000 will have been spent on Archer street before repairs are completed there within the next ten days. The average number of men on the paving gang was 12. J. H. Parke is superintendent of this division.
